

The Dollar Store •

character: Keshah

By Jada Pell

Gramma

gramma

Shouting

Have you ever imagined not doing something that you really wanted to do. Well Kiesha felt like yelling to her gramma something.

It was almost as if time was frozen because it felt like four hours had passed. Then Kiesha said to her gramma can we go to the dollar store.

gramma

frustrated

closet

gramma

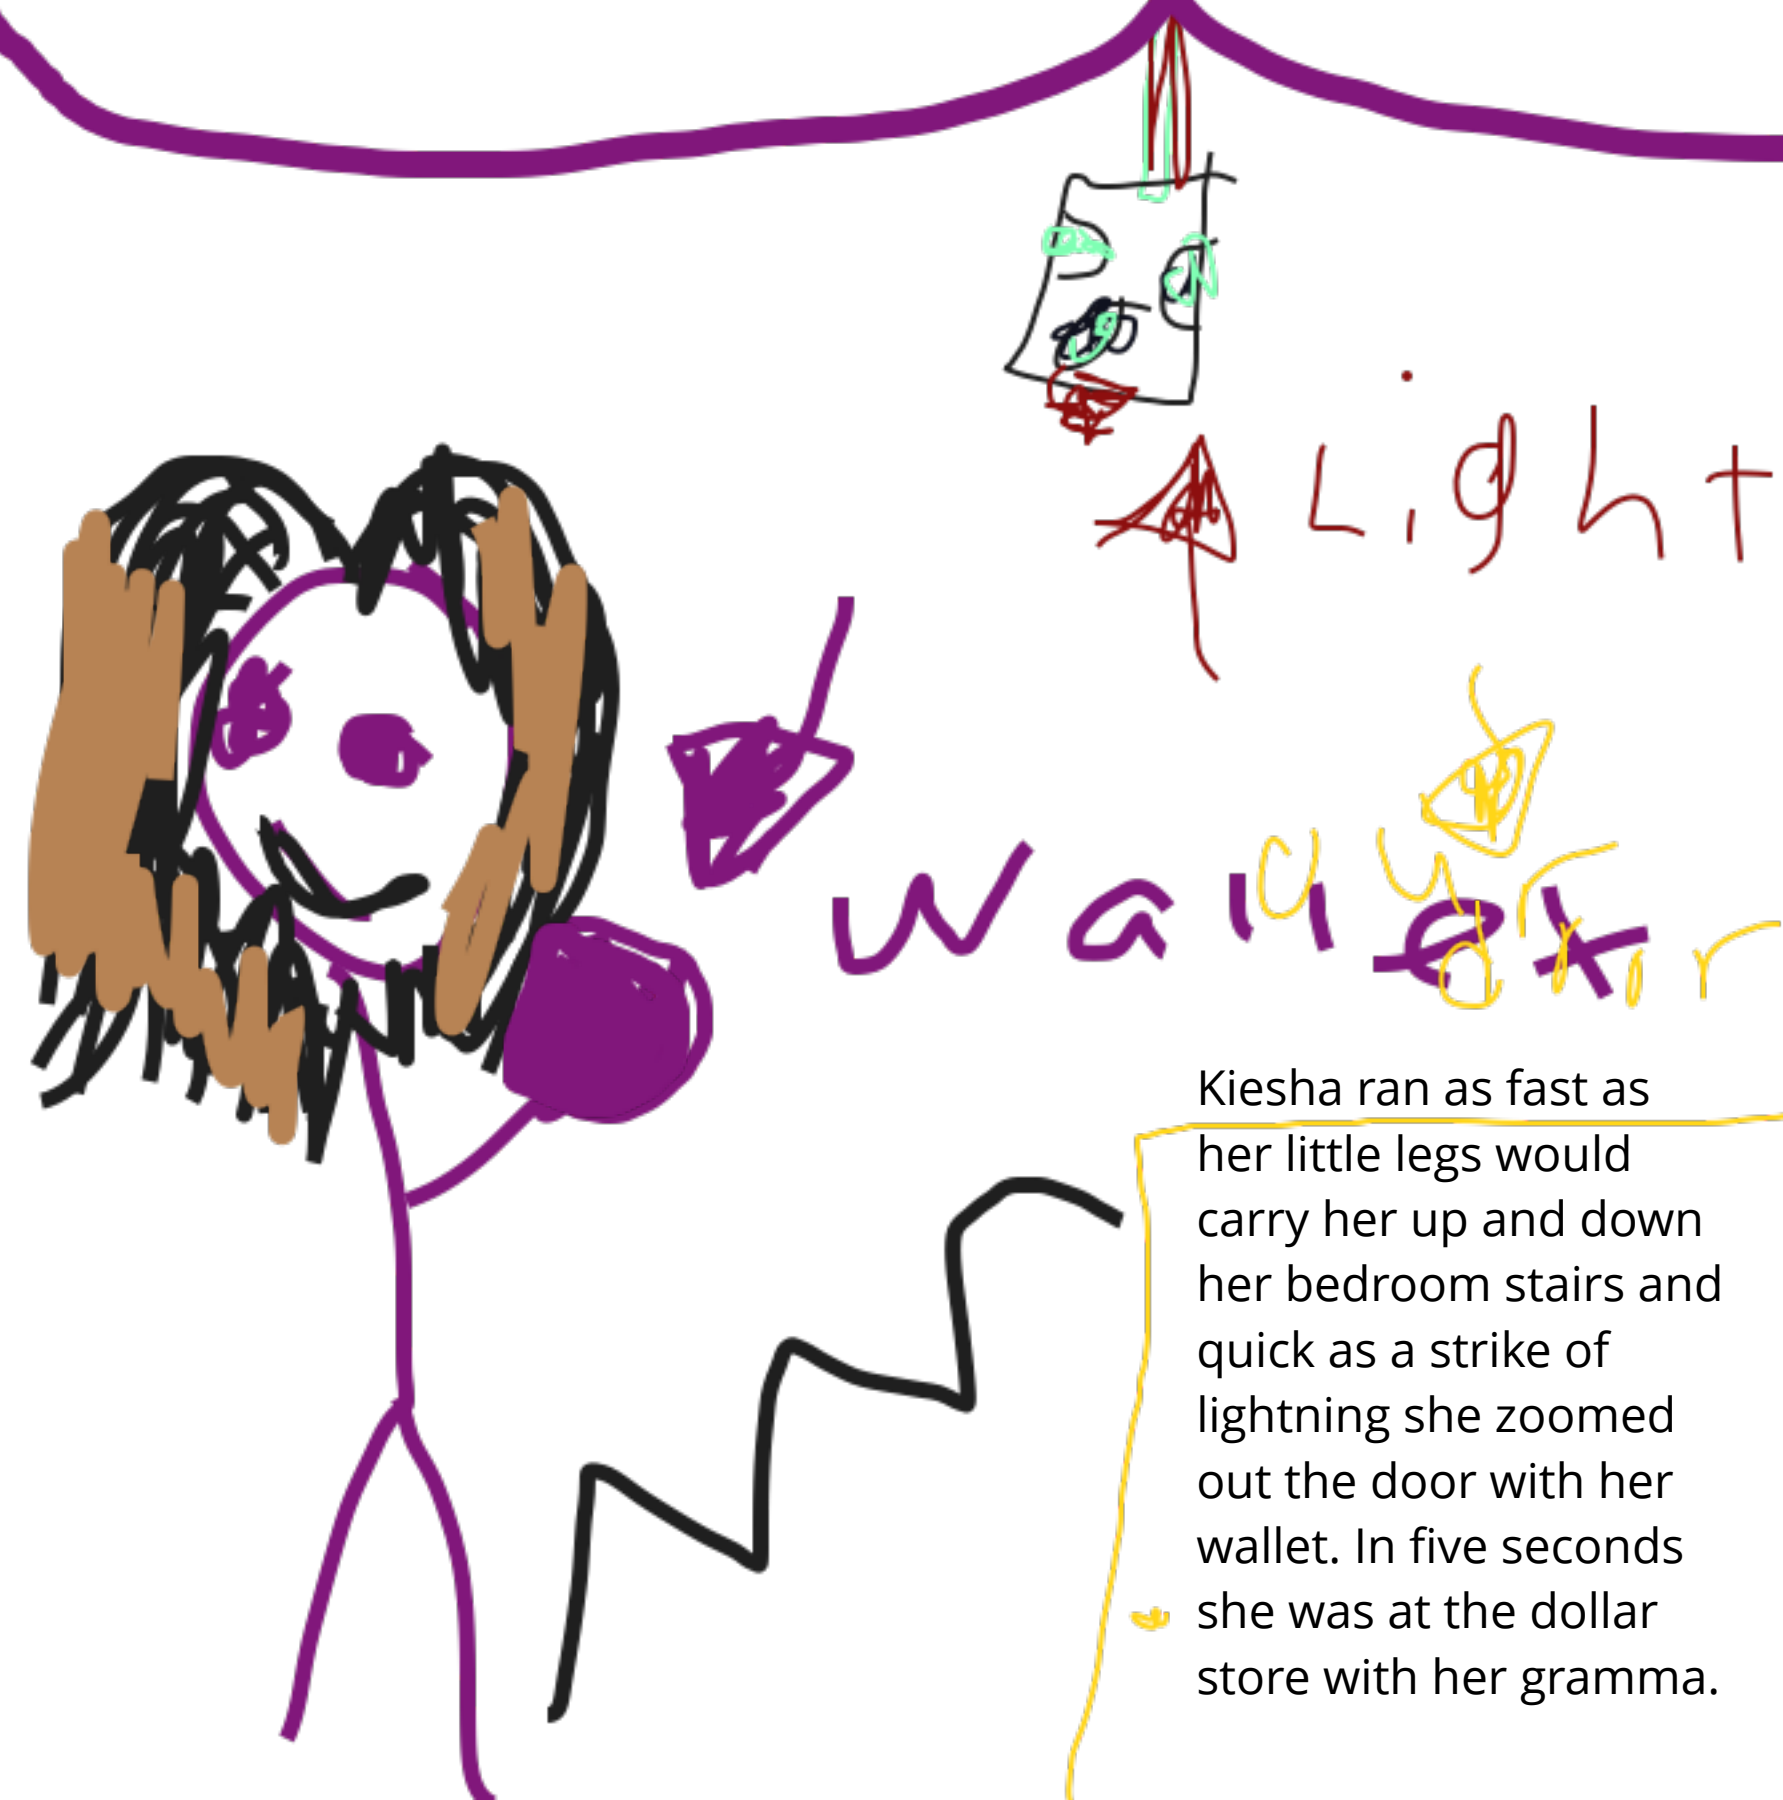

gramma

Then when her gramma heard what she was asking for, her gramma took her to the dollar store. After all her work was done.

When kiesha was waiting for her gramma
to finish her work,
kiesha had a crafty
idea. She gathered her
paints, art supplies,
erasers, colored
pencils, paper, books,
and crafts like glue,
colored Cotten balls,
and supplie box
holders.

She made her own dollar store with the supplies she got from her bedroom. Then she put all her stuff all into her very own dollar store. when all her supplies was orginized her gramma so happened to be finished early Kiesha ran as fast as her little legs would carry her up and down her bedroom stairs and quick as a strike of lightning she zoomed out the door with her wallet. In five seconds she was at the dollar store with her gramma.

Plastic bags

When Kiesha got to the dollar store the place was filled with stuffed animals, American girl doll clothes, and babies. It was a wonder world.

Then when Keisha's cart was full with bath products pet toys and jewelry they rushed to the counter and rang up their stuff. Then they exited the dollar store and rushed home.

about the author

Hi, my name is Jada and I'm in third grade
I'm
eight years old
date 2-16-16

About the author page.

Hi, my name is Jada and I'm eight years old. This is my favorite book that I created ever. I hope it's your favorite book too. I also live in Hudsonville on Kelly Street. I was born in a hospital. I was also born on March 12, 2007. My favorite thing to do is hang out with friends. I also like to play with my pets. I have a dog named Cinimon. And a cat named Pandora.

CREATED IN FEBRUARY 2 17 16.

