

Earning Money

By: Parker

BANG, BANG, BANG! Bobby was running down the stairs as fast as he could. "Bobby stop you are shaking the whole house." "What mom I can't hear you." When Bobby was running down the stairs he made the biggest bangs he has ever made and they made his mom jump.

Bobby stood there in front of his mom. The fresh new carpet below him was so soft, the ceiling was bright white, and the lights were shining. Bobby was waiting for his mom. He thought that he was standing there for like 3 hours but he was only standing there for a couple seconds.

Then his mom turned around. "Bobby what do you want." His mom said. "I want the new blue and yellow Michigan shoes that just came out." Bobby said as fast as he could. "Will you say that again you were talking to fast." His mom replied back to him. So Bobby said it again but this time in slow motion. "I want the new blue and yellow Michigan shoes that just came out."

"Bobby what do you want."

"I want the new blue and yellow Michigan shoes that just came"

"Ok, but if you want money you will have to earn it." His mom said back to him. Bobby was standing in front of his mom with his mouth wide open, and thought that his eyes were glued open. "But I don't want to earn money I just want to get money." Bobby said back to his mom. "Well I just told you if you want money you will have to earn it." His mom said back to him. "But they are Adidas your favorite brand." "I don't care if they are Adidas how much money are they any ways.his mom asked. 50 dollars." Bobby said back to his mom. "I wouldn't have given you 50 dollars any way." His mom said. "I have a Pennie so it would only be 49 dollars and 99 cents." Bobby said back to his mom. "Ok I wouldn't have given you 49 dollars and 99 cents nether." His mom said back to him. So Bobby asked how he could earn money as grumpy as he could.

After Bobby asked how he could earn money as grumpy as he could he was really, really thinking about the blue and yellow Michigan shoes. In his brain it looked like he was about to pay, but then his mom said "You can clean your room, clean the playroom, do the dishes, clean the bathroom, clean the basement, and pick up your shoes from downstairs."

Bobby was standing there in front of his mom not blinking, not moving, just breathing. At the same time Bobby was thinking that it stinks that he has to earn money.

Then he started to do his job good as he could but after 5 minutes he said that he was done. But then his mom said "If you want money you will have to clean better than that." So Bobby went back to work. then he finished what he had to finish but he didn't think he would get 49 dollars and 99 cents. So he started cleaning more so he could get more money.

Then he earned his 49 dollars and 99 cents so his mom gave him 49 dollars and 99 cents. "Thank you mom for giving me money." Bobby said "You are welcome. Anyways you earned it for cleaning." His mom said back to him.

But then Bobby said "Will I ever have to earn money by cleaning again?" "Yes you will Bobby." His mom said back to him. "But I told you already I don't want to earn money I just want to get money." Bobby said. "But I already told you if you want money you will have to earn it." His mom said back to him.

"Ok if I want money I will earn it." Bobby said to his mom like it was the hardest thing to do in his life but he was thinking it was the hardest thing anyone has ever done in the world.

Bobby learned that you can earn money for cleanings the playroom, cleaning your room, doing the dishes, cleaning the bathrooms, cleaning the basement, and picking up your shoes from downstairs.
