

Jay Learns a Lesson

March 2015

Crunch, crunch!
Jay's boot's
crunched in the snow as he darted
across the yard
and slammed the door shut.

Then Jay walked in the door and went into the bright tan kitchen.
SLAM! He dropped his DS and it hit the ground!

"What happened in there?" his Mother yelled. "Nothing." Jay whispered. "Okay." said his Mother. "Come here." She demanded. "Okay." "What happened in here?" She questioned "I dropped my DS." Jay admitted.

"Can I play your phone instead?" Jay begged. "NO!" yelled his Mother.

"Now what can I do" Jay said to himself. "Come on lets go get you a new one." His mom said. They got back in a flash and his mom said, "Jay before you play that go brush your teeth!" Jay ran upstairs to do that. Whose, whosh the water went over his toothbrush. When he was done Jay came down stomping down the stairs

And yelled "Done!"
"Okay come down here."
said Jay's Mother
"Okay." said Jay. Jays
teeth sparked in the summer sunshine. Jay learned an important
lesson that day begging can get you into a lot of trouble at least some times.
